“ Words can not express the sadness and heartache you are going through. I lost my wife from cancer when we were fifty. I had time to prepare so I know your pain is much worse than my pain. Please know that Brian, you, and your children and Grandson are in our prayers. We will light candles for Brian's soul and for your healing at St. Joesph's RC Church in Cabot, PA weekly for the next fourty days and beyond.

My heart aches for you. There is nothing anyone can do to stop the mourning. It's something you'll need to go through, but while you will never forget, over time, the mourning will turn to memories. Stay close to the Lord in prayer and please know that you all are in our daily prayers. May the Lord bless you and keep you close to Him and in his tender Loving care everday all day.

*God Bless and Keep you,

“ Words cannot express the sorrow I feel for all of you, Cindy, your daughters, & grandson, all of Bryan's family; your combined family that has been together for so many years. Your family is large, and there have been so many hard losses over the years:(
It's hard to put into words what I want to say here, because our families were linked through friendship through our mothers before Bryan and I were born, while our mothers were children. So, I've known Bryan a long time. While it's been a few years since I've seen Bryan, he always had a smile on his face when I saw him, and he had a friendly manner and a kindness with people that I never saw change throughout the years.

I know that Bryan held a deep, deep love for his family, and though some men are reluctant to express this or hesitant to allow it to show, Bryan wasn't.

I know there is much faith among Bryan's family and friends that will help all of you through what is one of the most difficult periods of your life. But it won't take away the impact of losing Bryan, but I think in a way, that shows a lot about Bryan, and what kind of person he was while he walked this earth, and the kind of people he surrounded himself with. You are strong. He isn't gone, just changed.

You are all in my thoughts and prayers. Please, if there is anything I can do to help you, let me know.

*Love to all,
Lisa*

“ Cindy and Family, Please know you are in my thoughts and prayers. I was very saddened to hear of Bryan's passing. He was always a good friend. I am sorry that I could not come to the service, but I work out of town all week at the present time. Bryan proved he was a good friend when I was let go from Armstrong. He and Larry Dishman came to visit me a few days later, to let me know that they were upset about my leaving. I really appreciated his kindness and will remember it always! I pray God will wrap you in his love and comfort during the days ahead.
